

Maggie Fyfe

Video Editor

I am a recent graduate from the Savannah College of Art and Design where I studied film production, including producing, scriptwriting, directing, cinematography, sound design, and color grading. I minored in editing and discovered a passion for the creative and organized work unique to post-production. My goal is to cut promos and trailers as it combines my love of film, editing, and music with the fast-paced energy found in short-form work.
